Heart failure takes centre stage

The spotlight for the Heart Failure 2015 congress 'Heart failure takes centre stage: Drugs, devices and multidisciplinary care', together with a strong line-up of 24 Late Breaking Trials and record number of abstract submission, shows heart failure has become a dominant force in cardiology.

"We'd like to welcome everyone to Heart Failure 2015, the world's leading congress on heart failure and place to come for the most up-to-date information. Our programme emphasizes heart failure is on a roll with heart failure

HF: a closer look' (26 May 08:30-10:00). "In several sessions we'll dig into potential mechanisms for the drug LCZ696 heralded as one of the biggest breakthroughs in heart failure over the last decade and, in a highly anticipated debate discuss what it means for the future of clinical practice," says Ruschitzka (session on Monday 25 May from 16:30 – 18:30).

Innovations for HF 2015 include a new interactive Mobile App in the Focus clinical case-based sessions, allowing delegates to vote from smart phones, and the introduction of
